WHO EU REGIONAL OBESITY REPORT 2022

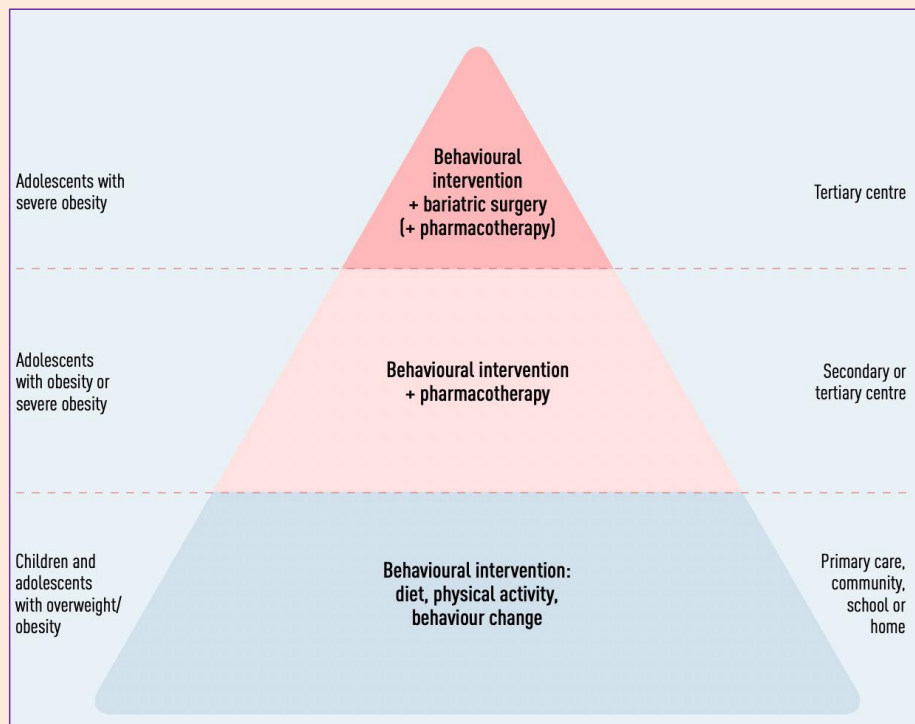

WHO EUROPEAN REGIONAL OBESITY REPORT 2022

Key highlights

- Obesity has been identified as a serious public health challenge globally and as a major determinant of disability and death in the WHO European Region.
- Excess body weight increases the risk of 13 types of cancer.
- People living with obesity are found to be at increased risk of severe COVID-19 outcomes.

In the WHO European Region:

- Overweight and obesity affect almost 60% of adults.
- Overweight (including obesity) is a common problem affecting 4.4 million children under 5 years of age, representing 7.9% of all children in this age group.
- The WHO European Childhood Obesity Surveillance Initiative shows that nearly one in three school-aged children are living with overweight or obesity.
- Prevalence decreases temporarily in adolescents, with one quarter living with overweight (including obesity).
- Alarming, there have been consistent increases in prevalence of overweight and obesity, and not a single Member State of the Region is on track to reach the target of halting the rise in obesity by 2025.
- This report speaks to the growing challenge and impact of obesity within Europe, building on past publications addressing overweight and obesity in the Region and aligning with parallel initiatives to tackle cancer across European countries.
